Dear Friends:

On behalf of Midland School, it is our pleasure to send this report to you. We want to once again thank the members of the Midland community who value their connection with the School and make it possible for us to continue to provide a unique educational experience to a discerning group of students.

Midland School exists because of the contributions many have made over its more than 80 years of existence. The School benefits from the fact that the generosity of past generations means that Midland operates with no debt, extraordinarily low overhead, and we consistently find a way to provide financial aid to over 50% of our student body. You, our donors, are part of that proud tradition of supporting the school so that we can meet our needs and those of our students.

In 2012-13 we graduated one of our strongest classes, a group of twenty four students, each of whom plans to attend college next year. The class showed its leadership and commitment to Midland, as every one of them pledged to make an annual gift to the School each year for the next five years. We are proud of all of our Midland alumni/ae who are "paying it forward."

We also completed our first comprehensive Campus Plan. The study and planning effort was undertaken to think strategically about how to ensure that Midland maintains a place-based education on a campus and ranch located at the edge of a remote and wild landscape. The plan addresses critical physical projects and is forward thinking in order to continue to attract well qualified students and provide them with a healthy and functional Midland experience as they prepare for college.

Again on behalf of the entire Midland community, we thank you for your support. We are grateful to the contributors listed within these pages, to our Mighty Oaks legacy donors, and for all of the friends of the school who make it possible for us to continue the Midland tradition.

Sincerely,

William L. Graham
Head of School

A LOVE OF THE OUTDOORS: PROTECTING MIDLAND'S NATURAL HABITAT

Adjacent to both the Sedgwick Reserve and the San Rafael Wilderness Area, Midland's canyons and oak-dotted hillsides have offered refuge for plants and wildlife such as black bears, bobcats, and coyotes. Working with the Trust for Public Land and the Land Trust of Santa Barbara County, in 2010 the school protected the land with a conservation easement that will permanently prevent development of this wildlife corridor.

Midland actively manages cattle grazing by protecting riparian areas in the Alamo Pintado drainage and surrounding springs in the foothills of the San Rafael Mountains. Working closely with ecologically minded cattle lessees and raising our own grassfed beef has helped Midland manage grasslands that had been degraded by invasive non-native grasses and severe grazing over the last 100 years. We are the grateful recipient of multiple grants from the Natural Resource Conservation Service, enabling significant improvements to the Midland property and farm.

We take seriously our role as a steward of these 2,860 acres and work daily to protect our water, air, soil, and cultural resources. We are proud to share our property with guests and friends that join us in our commitment to land conservation, and who enjoy the distinctive opportunity to hike and ride horseback in an unmatched mosaic of Chaparral, Blue Oak Woodland, and Serpentine outcrops.

Midland recently partnered with the Santa Barbara Trails Council to rebuild miles of trails in Birabent Canyon. Unlike any other private ranch in the Santa Ynez Valley, Midland allows hikers free access to more than 35 miles of trails. While visiting, you may have the pleasure of seeing the rare Santa Barbara Jewel Flower.

Our land stewardship practice requires constant work, and we take immense pride in our commitment to protecting and being part of the ecotone where the Santa Ynez Valley meets the San Rafael Range.

When you use the trails, simply fill out a form online at www.midland-school.org under 'About Us' or fill out a permit on campus each time you visit the property.
